Message from the Chair of the Board and

We are extremely proud to present the Code of Ethics of the Centre intégré universitaire de santé et de services sociaux (CIUSSS) de la Capitale-Nationale. This essential reference tool is the result of consultations with staff members, volunteers, users' and residents' committees, the Service Quality and Complaints Commissioner and professional councils.

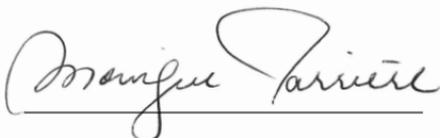

This Code reflects the mission, vision and values of our organization and serves as a guide for all care providers and partners regarding the practices and conduct that will ensure all users are treated with respect, dignity and compassion. Our shared vision of offering the best possible care and services to our users requires all of us to put into practice the measures contained in the Code of Ethics.

All decisions and actions we take as we provide care to our users should reflect the principles found in this Code. In addition, mutual respect among users, their families and care providers is the key factor that will lead to a healthy environment where the well-being of each and every person is a priority.

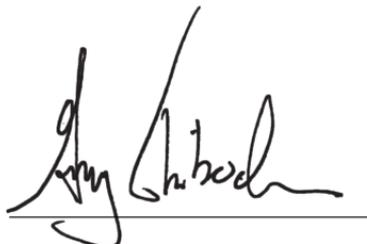

the President and CEO

In an organization such as ours, with a mission that combines the delivery of care and social services, research and teaching, a Code of Ethics is a way for us to showcase our commitment to the continuous improvement of our practices.

We invite you to read the document, which is meant for care providers, users and their loved ones, in order to get a clear sense of everyone's responsibilities in achieving our primary goal of caring for you with integrity.

Message from the Assistant

This Code of Ethics recognizes the historical, cultural and linguistic characteristics specific to Jeffery Hale – Saint Brigid's (JHSB), grouped with the CIUSSS de la Capitale-Nationale since 2015.

JHSB's uniqueness is marked by the English-speaking community's ongoing engagement in this institution, an institution that it built and that has been serving the entire population of the Capitale-Nationale region for over 150 years. You will find these specific characteristics highlighted within text boxes throughout this document. The English version also reflects JHSB's fundamental values, such as respect, collaboration and compassion.

Executive Director

A clear consensus arises from the mission of JHSB: Building on its heritage of caring for the community, JHSB is a dynamic and bilingual institution that distinguishes itself by assuring quality, safety and compassion in both client care and services, and also as a place of work.

Message from the Chair of the Comité d

The primary role of users' and residents' committees is to promote and defend the rights of users. They also aim to maintain and improve the living conditions and quality of life of users and residents of the CIUSSS de la Capitale-Nationale.

A code of ethics is essential for any institution because it sets out the way in which the rights of users and residents will be respected. It also lays out the manner in which it commits to respect these rights on a daily basis. In addition, a code of ethics is a tool that reminds users and residents of the responsibilities that come with these rights.

des usagers du centre intégré

Our Code of Ethics was developed jointly with users' and residents' committees to ensure that the rights of all clients are respected, but with an understanding that these rights are associated with certain responsibilities. It was also drafted in a spirit of cooperation because we firmly believe that all employees, users and residents are full of good will and dedicated to finding solutions even when faced with challenging situations.

Marie Boulanger-Lemieux

Chair of the Comité des usagers du centre intégré

Code of Ethics: Statement of User Rights

The Act respecting health and social services states the following: “Every institution must adopt a code of ethics which shall set out the rights of the users and the practices and conduct expected, with respect to the users, from the employees, the trainees, including medical residents, and the professionals practising in a centre operated by the institution.”

Definition

For the CIUSSS de la Capitale-Nationale, a code of ethics is: “A shared commitment to practices that respect user rights and recognize our mutual responsibilities.”

Its purpose is to establish the conduct expected of the personnel and partners who work for our institution. It also lists some of the common responsibilities of users.

Our Code of Ethics will serve as a guide to support our commitment to users in the performance of our duties.

Who is it for?

The Code of Ethics is intended for:

- Users, residents and their families
- All personnel working for the CIUSSS de la Capitale-Nationale
- Partners* of the CIUSSS de la Capitale-Nationale

*People involved with the institution on a contractual basis for the delivery of residential services or other beneficial activities.

Commitments to users and their families

Jeffery Hale – Saint Brigid's • Introduction

Jeffery Hale - Saint Brigid's (JHSB) is a public institution that provides a wide range of primary health care services in French and English to the population of the region for more than 150 years. More recently, JHSB has developed an expertise in providing services to cultural communities.

In April 2015, our institution began a new chapter in its history by being grouped with the CIUSSS de la Capitale-Nationale.

Mission of Jeffery Hale – Saint Brigid's

With deep roots in the English-speaking community of the greater Quebec City region and a long tradition of caring, JHSB is a public, bilingual institution dedicated to providing safe, compassionate and high quality care. Together with its partners in the health and social services network and the community, it makes a positive contribution to the health and well-being of the population it serves by delivering services for all age groups which are linguistically and culturally adapted.

JHSB plays a pivotal role in the English-speaking community and fosters its vitality. It spearheads concerted actions that promote the development of this community and the health and well-being of its members.

Vision of the CIUSSS de la Capitale-Nationale

The vision of the CIUSSS de la Capitale-Nationale is to "Be a leader recognized for the excellence and accessibility of its care and services, an institution in which the public and our partners trust and a university centre that inspires its personnel, doctors and researchers."

Vision of Jeffery Hale – Saint Brigid's

Building on a strong community tradition of caring, Jeffery Hale – Saint Brigid's is a dynamic, bilingual health and social services institution committed to ensuring quality, safety and compassion for clients and staff.

Values of the CIUSSS de la Capitale-Nationale

To fulfil its mission, the CIUSSS de la Capitale-Nationale has adopted values that serve to guide the actions of our personnel and partners.

Here are these values:

- Compassion

Compassion involves demonstrating care and empathy in all our interactions with others.

- Respect

Respect involves recognizing the capacity of all individuals, acknowledging their intrinsic value and treating them with dignity.

- Collaboration

Collaboration is demonstrated by our personnel's commitment to work in teams and to integrate users and their families, along with our partners from the community, as full members of those teams, all working towards a common goal.

- Accountability

Accountability involves rigorous management and responsibility in fulfilling our institutional mission while maintaining a constant focus on the experience and needs of users and their families.

- Innovation

Innovation entails a proactive attitude toward change and an ability to seize opportunities, while demonstrating creativity, audacity and courage.

Rights of users

As a user of the CIUSSS de la Capitale-Nationale, your rights are as follows:

The right to be informed

Our commitment:

- We recognize that the right to information is essential and that you have the right to be informed about the care, services and resources available and the right to be informed, as rapidly as possible, of any accident or incident that may occur during the delivery of care and services.
- We recognize that you have the right to receive all such information in the language of your choice (French or English).

As a staff member or partner of the institution, I pledge to:

- Share information in a simple manner by making sure you understand what is being said and by answering your questions so that you can make informed decisions about your care and services.
- Adopt an attitude of openness and honesty that allows you to ask questions about your care.
- Behave in a manner that fosters positive communication.
- Adapt my communication style to your needs.
- Report incidents and accidents that occur during the delivery of care and services, disclose them in a timely manner and inform you of the support measures offered by the institution.
- Speak to users in their preferred language (French or English), or find someone who can.

The right to receive services

Our commitment:

- We recognize that you have the right to receive services that are humane, scientifically and socially-sound and provided in a safe and personalized manner.

As a staff member or partner of the institution, I pledge to:

- Always perform my job based on best practices and in keeping with your experience of the care and services and your knowledge.
- Proceed with vigilance and prudence when providing care and services in order to minimize the risk of accidents.
- When necessary, refer you to the appropriate resources and provide you with the assistance you need.
- Contribute to the continuity of your care and services by ensuring effective coordination and liaison through the timely sharing of information.

The right to receive services from the professional, facility or institution of your choice

Our commitment:

- We recognize your right to choose the professional or institution for the care and services you need, taking into account available resources.

As a staff member or partner of the institution, I pledge to:

- Propose a care and service plan that supports your right to choose.
- Take into account your wish to receive care and services from the professional of your choice.
- Create a climate of openness and respect regarding your freedom to choose the professional or institution you wish.

The right to the privacy of your health file

Our commitment:

- Privacy means ensuring that personal information is not disclosed to unauthorized people. Your health file is confidential and no one can access it without your consent or the consent of a representative legally authorized to act on your behalf. Accessing your health file without your consent is possible in certain special circumstances prescribed by law.

As a staff member or partner of the institution, I pledge to:

- Provide you with care and services in a way that respects your privacy.
- Share with others only medically relevant information needed for your care.
- Disclose only to other authorized individuals the personal information contained in your health file and only if such information is relevant to your care.
- When using your file, always make sure that only authorized individuals can access its content.

The right to respect and dignity

Our commitment:

- We recognize your right to be treated with courtesy, fairness and understanding in a manner that respects your dignity, autonomy, needs and safety

As a staff member or partner of the institution, I pledge to :

- Be polite, courteous and respectful at all times when working with you.
- Treat you fairly without discrimination.
- Adopt an attitude of discretion that protects and respects your privacy and your right to confidentiality.

The right to consent to care and services*

Our commitment:

- We recognize your right, or the right of your legal representative, to give or withdraw your free and informed consent to care and services offered to you.

As a staff member or partner of the institution, I pledge to:

- Ensure that you, or your legal representative, clearly understand the various options for care and services offered to you and their related benefits, risks and consequences.
- Explain your right to consent to care and services and respect your right to refuse such care and services.
- Clearly validate your consent or refusal to a treatment or service.

* In certain situations prescribed by the Act, this right may be temporarily suspended for a user's best interest.

- Obtain free and informed consent from you or your legal representative before obtaining or forwarding information about you.
- Take into account your definite refusal to a treatment.
- Properly apply the treatments prescribed to you.

The right to access your file

Our commitment:

- We recognize your right to access your file and are committed to informing you about the ways to do so.

As a staff member or partner of the institution, I pledge to:

- Inform you about the procedure required to consult your file and on the possibility of obtaining assistance from a qualified professional.

The right to participate in decisions affecting you

Our commitment:

- We recognize your right to participate in decisions affecting you.

As a staff member or partner of the institution, I pledge to:

- Support you in your choices.
- Promote shared decision making and, with your approval, have your family or representative participate in the decision making.
- Encourage your participation, as much as you are able, when developing or reviewing your care or intervention plan.
- Clearly explain the nature, goals and effects of a recommended treatment, as well as other available options.
- Recognize your potential and encourage you to develop and maintain your autonomy.

The right to be accompanied, assisted or represented*

Our commitment:

- We recognize your right to be accompanied and assisted by a person of your choice when you wish to obtain information or take steps regarding a service offered by the institution, on its behalf or by any professional.

As a staff member or partner of the institution, I pledge to:

- Consider the people accompanying, assisting or representing you during our interactions.
- In a case of incapacity, recognize your right to be represented and facilitate this representation.
- Promote the participation of your legal representative and share with you all relevant information needed to fulfil his or her role.

*A user being accompanied or assisted by someone else should never make us lose sight of the fact that the user is the person being addressed.

The right to file complaints and the right of recourse

Our commitment:

- We recognize your right to be informed about the complaint review process and your right to be accompanied or assisted throughout this process, without risk of reprisals.

As a staff member or partner of the institution, I pledge to:

- Listen to your dissatisfactions and, together with you, attempt to find a solution.
- Provide you with information about the procedure to express your dissatisfaction or complaints, as needed, and facilitate your access to the local service quality and complaints commissioner if you wish to do so.
- Inform you that the members of the users' committee, residents' committee or the Centre d'accompagnement aux plaintes de la Capitale-Nationale can assist you in the process.

The right to receive end-of-life care

Our commitment:

- We recognize your right to receive end-of-life care adapted to your needs when your condition requires it.

As a staff member or partner of the institution, I pledge to:

- Support you in your decision making and refer you to another professional, as the case may be (in the event of a refusal).
- Show you empathy, care and compassion.
- Respect your right to accept or refuse end-of-life care.
- Ensure that your rights and your dignity are respected to the end.
- Accompany you in your last moments.

The right to receive services in English

Our commitment:

- If you are an English speaker, we ensure that you receive the health and social services you need in English or through an interpreter, taking into account the organization and availability of our institution's resources.
- If you do not speak English or French, we ensure that you receive the health and social services you need through an interpreter, taking into account the organization and availability of our institution's resources.

As a staff member or partner of the institution, I pledge to:

- Offer services in English to English-speaking users.
- Seek to obtain services in English for the user if my knowledge of English is insufficient.
- Seek to obtain services through an interpreter for the user if he does not speak English or French.

The right to accommodation

Our commitment:

- As long as your state of health and the assessment of your needs require it, our establishment recognizes your right to be housed in the establishment or to be relocated to another of its settings, to an intermediate resource or to a family-type resource that would better respond to your needs.

As a staff member or partner of the institution, I pledge to:

- Provide the care and services necessary to stabilize your condition for as long as necessary until a place is secured for you in another facility or an intermediate or family-type resource.
- Find a place for you in a suitable residential facility if your health condition does not allow you to return home.
- Help ensure continuity of care and services through effective coordination and liaison with the residential resource.

Responsibilities of users and their families

Respect for others

- Be respectful, courteous and polite with staff, other users, their families and our partners.
- Respect the rights of other users, staff of the institution and its partners.
- Respect the property of users and of the institution and comply with existing policies, procedures and regulations.

Appropriate behaviour

- Maintain respectful relationships with others users, staff of the CIUSSS de la Capitale-Nationale and its partners, that are free of all forms of harassment and violence.

Appropriate use of care and services

- Communicate your needs and all information relevant to your situation to the best of our ability.
- Respect your commitments to receiving services offered.
- Participate in your care or intervention plan as agreed.
- Make staff aware of the wishes in your advance medical directives, your refusal of care or any other document that could have an impact on your care and services.

Safety for everyone in the institution

A safe environment is essential to the delivery of quality care and services. For this reason, it is important to:

- Apply recommended measures in cases of infection.
- Quickly notify a staff member in a situation when someone's safety is at risk (e.g.: a fall, an aggressive conversation between two people).
- Make proper use of the material and equipment needed for your condition.
